Publications

Book chapter

Refereed journal articles

DOI: 10.1080/07268602.2015.1121530

http://dx.doi.org/10.1016/j.ecresq.2015.04.001

Published Conference Proceedings

Conference papers/presentations

Danby, S., Ekburg, S., Davidson, C., & Thorpe, K. (2015). You are not in there. Young children’s practices using Google Earth TM. In S. Danby (Chair), Child-centred practice using technologies in early years settings, symposium for AARE, 29 November-3 December, Fremantle, WA.

Davidson, C., Danby, S., & Thorpe, K. (2015). How young children and parents produce interactive environments for reading from the screen during technology use. In S. Danby (Chair), Child-centred practice using technologies in early years settings, symposium for AARE, 29 November-3 December, Fremantle, WA.

Danby, S., & Davidson, C. (2014). Digital communication in a preschool classroom: Collaborative social interaction of children and teachers writing email. In K. Mills (Chair), Portals to understanding learners’ social interaction online. Symposium for Writing and Literacies SIG. American Educational Researchers Association, 3-7 April, Philadelphia, USA.

Davidson, C. (2013). “We've got geckoes haven't we buddy?” - How parents and children accomplish shared understandings of information from Wikipedia. In C. Davidson & S. Danby (Chairs), Being connected: How children manage the interface between their social activity and the affordances of digital technologies. Symposium for International Pragmatics Association Conference, 8-13 September, New Delhi, India.

Davidson, C., Danby, S., Scriven, B., Thorpe, K., & Given, L. (2013, August). Accomplishing what texts “say”. In C. Davidson & V. Williams (Chairs), Interaction with the technology of written language. Symposium for the annual meeting of the International Institute for Ethnomethodology and Conversation Analysis, Waterloo, Ontario.

Davidson, C., & Moore, T. (2010). How transcription is taken for granted: An analysis of

